

Wedding Bells!

Right from designs for the invitation cards, printing of cards, booking venues, decorations, return gifts, menus and even honeymoon bookings became their baby.

Last year, when our daughter Anushka got engaged, my husband, Anil decided the wedding will be held in Chennai. I was aghast at his decision, for having lived in the US for over 14 years, I had no clue as to where I was going to start! I had lost touch with the city and had no idea where to begin. The few relatives that remained in the city were either too old or plain disinterested. Anil and I had the worst fights over this issue!

A few months before the wedding, a friend suggested Sumyog. To be honest, I was a bit skeptical about wedding planners in India! I wasn't too sure they would be able to deliver. Was I in for a surprise!

A few e-mails and telecons later I discovered Vidya and Rekha, the two enterprising ladies behind Sumyog were only too willing to take on all my burdens. Right from designs for the invitation cards, printing of cards, booking venues, decorations, return gifts, menus and even honeymoon bookings became their baby! They organized the mehndi walis, booked the DJ for the sangeet, took charge of hotel bookings for our guests and almost became a part of the family. Believe me, I heaved a sigh of relief!

What came as a pleasant surprise was their willingness to work within our budgets, translating our ideas into reality and their meticulous planning as well as incessant follow-up! I appreciated the fact that they were at the venue supervising decorations at 5 a.m while I could catch my forty winks!

Needless to say, things went clockwork. Anil, Anushka, David and I were pleased at the "perfect wedding" we had dreamt of, having now become a reality! Like they say " Sumyog makes the special day perfect!". I would totally endorse it, and recommend their services to others like me. With Sumyog I realized, wedding planning has truly come of age in India!
